THE WAY OF LIFE.

for doing nothing but printing this damnable literature. That man is a member of the church. Awitu plous he was! (Laughter.) God speed the day when it shall be impossible for a man to practise a life of inquity and yet keep his place in the membership of a Christian church. There was one man in this cluster of cities who published and sold to one dealer 155,000 obscene books. When the authorities came upon them there were found forty young women engaged in binding these books in the factory. There is not a school, not a shop, not a factory, not a home but has been assaulted by this literature. So far from exargerating the evil, if you could to-day anderstand the magnitude of it, it seems to me rou would rise up from your seats and shriek out with horror. These villains, be they authors, engravers, publishers or venders, ought to be unsparingly punished.

The reverend gentleman next proceeded to charge upon the infidelity and scepticism of the day. He defended the sanctity of the marriage relations against free lovism. Infidelity is the MOTHER OF FOURIERISM, free lovism and much of what is called Woman's Rights. I ablor the whole herd of them. There are many rights which belong to woman which I hope some day will be accorded to her; but this whole subject in our day is so much mixed up with infidelity and just that you had better, if you are rights which belong to woman which I hope some day will be accorded to her; but this whole subject in our day is so much mixed up with infidelity and just that you had better, if you are decent people, come off that platform and let the maniacs have it all to themselves. * * I believe that one of the chief doors to this iniquity is the American theatre. It has debauched the nation. The play actors and the play actresses for the most part are licentious people. The exceptions to it are as rare as jour-leaf clovers. My conscience sinites me when I think of the sermions I have been preaching about the theatre in the fact that I have not half stated the uncleanness and licentiousness of that institution. Take the most dentuclatory things I have said and add to them fifty per cent of Christian indignation, and then you will not come up to the truth. Most houses have a side door and a back door as well as a front door. The front door of the house of sname in this day is the theatre. When you go there, in nine cases out of ten you put yourselves under lasoivious inducate. * * I offer now a reward of $500 to anybody who will, during this week, send me the hame of any one who is eminent in plety and at the same time advocates and frequents the American theatre.

The reverend gentleman terminated his discourse by vividly depicting the social evil as it exists in our thoroughlares, and warning the young signing the dangers which beset their path, and dilating upon the text, "Blessed are the pure of heart, for they shall see God."

THE MONEY MARKET.

This suffered from no disturbing influences, and rates were generally steady at 2½ and 3 per cent. Prime paper was salable at 4% to 8 per cent. The demand is reported to be largely in excess of the supply offering. Foreign exchange was firmer for long sterling and weak for sight bills. Cable advices report a gain of £148,000 in bullion by the Bank of England and a reduction of the bank rave from 5 to 4 per cent.

GOLD.

From 112%, gold declined to 111%, but closed at 112%. The causes assigned for this variation are said to have been the change in the English bank of the President. The shipments of the week exceed $2,300,000, and while these continue there is little reason to look for permanently lower prices. The Customs receipts of the week were about $2,500,000. The following table shows the extreme fluctuations in gold during the week :-

FOREIGN COMMERCE. The foreign commerce of the port for the week was as follows:-General merchandise imports, £3,000,000, or $15,000,000, at about ninety-one per cent, gold. This new issue is part of the Company's general mortgage six per cent loan. Other loans were $3,000,000, for the Central of New Jer-sey, and $2,500,000 for the Illinois Central.

Trade continued irregular all through the week last past, the decline in the gold premium tending to the further unsettling of values which were generally nominal before. There was some improvement in some departments of trade, but, on the whole, business was dull and unsatisfactory. The most hopeful indication of the times was the continued absence of a disposition to force sales; yet there was more of that done last week than during the previous week. Prices of some com-modities settled so rapidly as to engender some apprehension, and induced an anxiety in some cases to sell at very low prices. But, as a general rule, there was a good deal of confidence feit with regard to the inture, both as regards the probable extent of business and the firmness of the markets during the spring season. Some of the class papers report an increasing business in the especial branch of trade they rep-resent, but as a general thing these reports rest resent, but as a general thing these reports rest upon no very substantial basis and are inspired by hopes rather than actual occurrences, the simple truth being that business is decidedly slow in almost every branch of the wholesale trade. Dry goods, though perhaps not quite so inactive as along back, are yet but a little removed from it. neither cotton nor woollen fabrics, domestic or imported, finding ready buyers. Spring goods are beginning to be displayed, but they attend to the property of the street of the s mestic or imported, finding ready buyers. Spring goods are beginning to be displayed, but they attract compartively little notice and less custom. Hardware is called doll, this besiness being, "twixt wind and tide," immorable just now, though by the lst proximo a fair business is probable. Boots and shoes show but little improvement as yet. Groceries, petroleum drugs and dyes, olls, &c., remain without essential change, though business in some is looking up. Wool continues in moderate request, but the market rules firm. On 'Change business during the week was meagre in the extreme Breadstuffs especially were dull and in buyers' saor all request, but the market rules firm. The little wanted was only wanted at lower prices, so that prices declined somewhat aimost every day, and at the close to Saturday there was still a declining tendency, though quotations were entirely nominal. Corn was in moderate demand all through the week, but with moderate receipts the market was firm and the bulk of the sates were at full prices. Oats were in limited demand and prices were rather easier. Barley was quiet, but hed strong. Provisions were irregular. Pork being duil and nominal and lower. Bacon was also lower. COFFER,—the movement continues slow, but holders were a trife drimer in their views. Buyers though in want of stock, do not appear to meet the improving tendency of prices, and dealings consequently are limited. Sales reported were 2,00 bags, ex Copernious a prime invoice, at 194c. ### THE HOUSE OF REFUGE.

The managers of the Society for the Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents have just published their fifteenth annual report. During the half century since the opening of the House of Refuge by the society it has received 15,791 children. mainly on warrants of commitment by magistrates. On the 1st of January, 1874, there were in traits. On the lat of January, 1874, there were in the Reformatory 663 children; 724 have been received during the year, 598 have been discharged or indentured, and there now remain 789. During the year the receipts of the institution were:—From the State, $60,500; from lator, $41,594; from the Board of Education, $7,469; from theatre licenses, $7,000, and from sale of property, $965. In consequence of the depression in trade the 500 boys who were employed by a contractor in manufacturing shoes have been withdrawn from that work, and the managers are seeking employment by which the labor of the inmates may be made useful, not only in contributing to their support, but as a wholesome part of their elucation and a chief factor in their reformation. About 200 smail boys will soon be engaged in hoopskirt manufacture. In the first decade of the nouse its work paid twenty-three per cent of the cost of its maintenance; in the second decade a little more than twenty-taree per cent; in the third, thirty-six per cent; in the fourta, thirty per cent, and in the last ten years forty-three and one-half per cent. Experience in the institution proves that, contrary to the usually received opinion, the proportion of reformation is greater among grif delinquents than among the boys, and the managers are strongly impressed with the fact that the chance for the future uselainess of the young delinquents is far better if they are indentured to responsible persons, in order to learn industrial pursuits, than if given back to the care of their parents. the Reformatory 663 children; 724 have been re-

METROPOLITAN THROAT HOSPITAL

The trustees of the Metropolitan Throat Hospital. No. 17 Stuyvesant street, have held their annual meeting and elected trustees for the ensuing year. From statements of the officers it appears that the visits of patients suffering from diseases of the throat and nose have been constantly increasing at the hospital, especially from among the poorer people, most of whom apply in their sufferings in abject distress and poverty. Last year the trustees were enabled by voluntary subscriptions to meet all demands made upon them; but they appear for further aid now, in consquence of the growing userniness of the institution. Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. John W. Bigelow, trustee, No. 65 Worth street, or to any of the newly elected trustees, whose names are as follows:—Samnel G. Courtney, John D. Jones, Joseph T. Low, Charles E. Gregory, H. M. Alexander, H. B. Hyde, Max Herzog, M. D.; J. J. McCook, P. Giraud Foster, J. Marion sims, M. D.; James R. Wood, M. D.; J. Crane, M. D.; Joseph H. Choate, W. A.
